for personal correspondence is quicker and better than a pen and gives you a carbon copy of what you have written.

The factory cost of the Corona is higher than any other typewriter because of the finer materials necessary to make it durable. Almost every magazine writer, engineer, correspondence school student, minister, traveling man, government inspector and newspaper man uses the Corona. Roosevelt wrote all his African and South American articles for Scribner's on a Corona. Men like Samuel Blythe, who writes for the Saturday Post, use the Corona year in and year out.

TEDDY'S NAME ON THE NEBRASKAN BALLOT

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 27.—Unless Colonel Roosevelt withdraws his name, he will be a candidate for the republican nomination for president at the Nebraska primary in April, for the secretary of state today refused a petitioner's request to strike off the name because of the colonel's stand on the preparedness question. Roosevelt's name was filed shortly after the last campaign.

ATTEMPT TO SET FIRE TO BIG GASOLINE TANK

Tacoma, Nov. 27.—Police officials are investigating today an attempt by unknown persons to set fire to 40,000 barrels of gasoline in the tanks of the Standard Oil company on the tide flats here last night. Oily waste had been lighted and shoved under the door of the gasoline room. It was discovered and extinguished by the nightwatchman. Manager G. H. Richardson of the Standard Oil said today that in his opinion either persons hostile to the company because of large shipments of oil to the war zone or disgruntled former employees are responsible for the incendiary attempt.

GOLDEN GATE PARK REFUSES CHRIST STATUE

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—San Francisco has barred the figure of Christ from Golden Gate park, or, to be more exact, the park commissioners refuse to have it there. Raffaello Romanelli's marble statue of Christ was offered to the commission for Golden Gate park if the cost of transportation and material were paid. On the ground that the park is non-sectarian and therefore should contain no statues of religious significance, the commissioners refused the offer.

IMMIGRATION PROBE NOT TO DISCREDIT CAMINETTI

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—Commissioner General of Immigration Anthony Caminetti, in San Francisco in connection with the immigration scandal, broke his long silence today. He made the first authentic comment on the case, which is expected to have its ending in Washington and result in wholesale changes in the immigration service here. The big outstanding fact of his disclosures sets at rest a hundred rumors that political plots are unheated and that the investigation was ordered from Washington as a means to bring about Caminetti's political death.

"I personally telegraphed Secretary of Labor Wilson that I would be unable to remain in San Francisco," he said, "because I had to attend an important labor convention at Charleston, S. C., and I asked him to appoint a committee, including United States Attorney Preston, to investigate conditions at Angel Island. It was on this request that Assistant Secretary Denmore, Special Investigator Ebey and others, including the best investigators in the United States, were sent here."

This refers to stories that Denmore, Ebey and others were appointed without the knowledge of Caminetti.

MASON TELLS WHAT WAR MOVES MEAN

(By United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Nov. 27.—Bagdad, which Germany has long desired to make the capital of her future colonial empire in the middle-east, will probably be captured by an Anglo-Indian force within a few days.

They are only ten miles away, while the Turks are reported to be constructing only weak outer defenses. For the British the capture of Bagdad will represent the most important allied victory except the battle of the Alps. With it in their hands a new era of progress will follow the present decay of the Mesopotamia district. If the Germans have any hopes of driving out the English, these will probably be realized only in the ultimate peace conferences through trading German winnings elsewhere in return for the Bagdad prize.

Certainly the victory could not be redeemed by a large German force sent to Bagdad over the railway the Germans are constructing to connect that city with Constantinople. The railway skirts the Mediterranean, and hence the allies could cut it easily and prevent the Germans from reaching their goal.

A PLUM PUDDING GIFT.

English Custom That Is Becoming Popular in America.

A Christmas gift that is growing as popular here as in England is that of a plum pudding. It may be made at home and goes to its destination daintily wrapped, though still in its mold, and tied with ribbons and holly. In England about 250 tons of plum puddings, averaging seven pounds each, are sent out each year. According to an old tradition, plum pudding should be at least "nine days old" before its eating. To make, put into a big bowl one cupful each of finely chopped suet, seeded raisins, cleaned currants and granulated sugar, three cupfuls of soft breadcrumbs and one each of shredded citron and orange peel. Add four eggs one by one, each being mixed thoroughly with the other ingredients before the next one is added. Next to follow are half a cupful of milk, one-quarter cupful of brandy (if there is no objection to its use, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of mixed nutmeg, clove and allspice and the grated yellow rind of one lemon. Mix thoroughly, using the hands; then fill into a large buttered mold, leaving scarcely any room for it to swell. Tie a thickly greased and floured cloth or a piece of oiled paper over the top and fit on the cover as tight as possible. Put into a steamer or arrange some cords so that it may be suspended from the inside of the cover of the kettle in which it is boiled. The boiling water should reach up nearly to the height of the bowl. Boil seven hours steadily, taking care that no water boils into it and that the water is boiling when the pudding goes in and is never allowed to stop. On Christmas day it can be reheated in the mold in which it was made. When sending to the table stick a sprig of holly on the top, put a border of blanched split almonds around the edge and pour over the pudding a quarter cupful of brandy or rum to be set on fire just as it enters the dining room.

Plum Pudding Sauce.—Cook together a cupful of sugar and a quarter cupful of water until the syrup spins a thread. Beat the yolks of three eggs until lemon colored and thick and pour the hot syrup over them, beating all the time. Add a cupful of cream, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and two tablespoonfuls of brandy (if not objectionable) strain and serve immediately.

PERSIAN PAINTINGS.

Oriental Art That Embodies the Essence of Romance.

No dramatic, no passionate motive ever so grips and possesses a Persian artist as to absorb his whole imagination. His sensuous love of beauty cannot resist filling in the accessories of the scene with just as much care and intention in every detail as he devotes to the central figures.

In the great works of Chinese and Japanese painters, as in masters like Rembrandt, accessories are subdued or suppressed, the color is limited, and the figures which create the motive of the design are so emphasized, so dominant in the eye that they seem to transcend the limits of the framing space, they seem alive with all the latent energies of actual men and women.

No Persian painting imposes itself thus on the imagination. Everything remains within the frame, inlaid as in a lustrous mosaic. The Persian method has, it is true, its own compensation. Just as in the early pictures of Rossetti and Millais, everything is realized with a dreamlike vision, and this is always a real achievement for the painter. The freshness and glory thus brought to the eye, as of a world washed clean, with every object magically distinct and burning with clear color, make a vivid impression of strangeness. Strangeness, remoteness from the routine of every day—that is the essence of romance, and no art in the world is more steeped in romance than the painting of Persia.—Laurence Binyon in Atlantic.

COLLARS AND CUFFS.

Good Designs For Homemade Accessories That Are Acceptable.

These suggestions will help those who like to do hand embroidery. They may be developed in white or colored fine linens and floss or in fine scrims with colored silk embroidery. She of clever fingers can adapt them as finishes for baby coats. For small school-girls cuffs and collar sets of dark blue, brown or green linen embroidered with white make attractive finishes for one piece frocks.

For the woman who writes, for the woman who gardens, for the woman who must sometimes be her own maid of all work—in fact, for the average woman—a pair of sleeve protectors will prove a welcome gift. They are cheaply and easily made of a handkerchief of the kind you can get for 5 cents. Cut off diagonally two small corners. Now fold the remainder of the handkerchief through the center, on the diagonal again, and cut on this fold. Join the ends of this piece so that it will just fit the arm. Of the smaller corners make little pointed cuffs that turn back over the sleeve protectors. The point of the protector may be fastened to the sleeve with a small safety pin or with a cuff pin. If one wishes these sleeve protectors to be more elegant they may be made of white linen and embroidered.

To make the protection gift more complete a cap and an apron may be added. These will require three more handkerchiefs, two for the apron and one for the cap. To make the cap double together one side of the handkerchief and join the edges by sewing them overhand. Each side of this seam make two box plaits, each an inch and a half broad. Turn back the corners six inches on the outside and tack to the crown the point made by the overhanded seam.

To make the apron cut from one handkerchief a corner twelve inches deep. Hem the diagonal edge of this corner and baste it to the opposite corner from which it is cut off. This makes the pocket for the apron. From the second handkerchief cut a square out of the center until there is a border left only five inches wide. Cut through one corner and stretch this handkerchief so that it will form a sort of fitted ruff. This is then basted around the outer edges of the first handkerchief. The edge of the first handkerchief left by the cut off corner is gathered into a band or ribbon.
